The 12th Pacific Polymer Conference

2nd Circular

November 13(Sun)-17(Thu), 2011
The Shilla Hotel, Jeju
Jeju Island, Korea

Organized by The Polymer Society of Korea
Supported by The Korean Federation of Science and Technology Societies
It is our great pleasure to invite you to the 12th Pacific Polymer Conference (PPC12), which will be held in Jeju Island, Korea from November 19th (Sunday) to 21st (Thursday), 2012. The Polymer Society of Korea organized successful PPC-5 in 1997 at Kyongju, Korea with 820 participants and 587 papers presented. Thirteen years have passed since PPC-5 and polymer science, polymer industry and Polymer Society of Korea have shown remarkable growth. The Annual Spring and Fall Meetings of the Society are now attended by more than 2,000 members each time with more than 1,000 papers presented. We now have many active young polymer scientists who are doing top-notch research on nano-technology, electronic materials, biomedical polymers, etc. We are the high impact factor of 2.369 (2010) for the official Journal of the Society, “Macromolecular Research”.

The conference will cover all aspects of polymer science and engineering including notable industrial developments. It will be a good opportunity to discuss the recent progress in polymer science and engineering and future perspectives on advanced polymers. We hope the conference will provide young polymer scientists to gather together and form a network in the Pacific basin for the future collaboration.

Furthermore, the conference will give you a special chance to enjoy Jeju Island, Korea’s largest island and the premier tourist destination in Korea. November is the best season for Jeju sightseeing. Scenic beaches, waterfalls, cliffs and caves lie in harmony, and the mild weather makes you enjoy beautiful Jeju Island more than ever.

We are looking forward to meeting you at Jeju.
